WEDNESDAY JULY 15 1863.

ALFALFA PLANTING.

It is calculated, by our most intelligent farmers, that the flocks of Buenos Ayres lose one-third of their increase, and sometimes many valuable ewes, by the double cause of a severe winter and the lack of nourishment when the dams are suckling their young. Our countrymen, with an indifference highly culpable, seem to regard this as a visitation of Providence, without reflecting how easy it is to avoid so serious a loss in their staple wealth. Those who are not yet disabused of the absurd notion that Irishmen, dislike labour, will think the evil irremediable; but, as we are confident it proceeds rather from a want of foresight or instruction, we devote a few lines to the subject, hoping that what is at present the exception in Irish sheep farms, may speedily become the rule throughout this province

Any one who has seen how bare are the camps in the present winter season will be less surprised at the loss of lambs than at the hardy nature of sheep able to eke out sustenance on such sterile commons. The inexperienced citizen naturally looks for some old ancient meadows where the flocks may browse in these hard times, but is met by the assurance that such are unknown

Let us examine the pro's and con's of Alfalfa planting.

The cost of laying down a manzana —150 yards square—is about 1000 dollars, in mere trifle. Four or five manzanas will afford enough hay during the severe months, for several large flocks of sheep. Alfalfa gives three crops per annum, and continues to yield for 15 or 16 years. Each manzana will give about 100 tons hay yearly, while one or two pounds daily is sufficient to support a sheep

On the other hand, the tenant farmer finds it difficult to spare time, or procure labourers for manuring. By enriching his tenement with a perennial crop, he not only gives away good value, without remuneration, whenever he changes his domicile, but, worse still, exposes himself to the rapacity of an ungrateful landlord, who will raise the rent in proportion to the improved state of the farm. This has proved the ruin of Ireland, and is already producing bad fruits in Buenos Ayres, for human nature (save Sligo) is the same all the world over. Again, the laws prohibiting trespass being quite inadequate, the alfalfa planter would every day have the mortification to behold his gaucho neighbour's cattle break down his fence and luxuriate in the clover raised by the sweat of his brow, while if he had the temerity to shoot an intruding quadruped, a heavier punishment must await him than if he attempted the life of a countryman

Hence it is clear that alfalfa-planting is highly remunerative, and also beset with difficulties. Most of the latter may be, however, obviated. In those localities where two or more adobe bodied men reside, one of them can easily devote a few hours daily to fence it, and plough up a small quin. As regarding the landlord, it is certain that he generally gives a lease for 5 or 6, or more years, and by stipulating beforehand for such improvements, he may be brought to terms, as it no less his interest to improve than the tenant's. Supposing a contract of 7 or 10 years, surely the sheep-farmer will reap ten times the value bestowed, in his 9 or 10 alfalfa crops. But where the Irishman is a "estanciero," we cannot see why he not only should not permit, but even oblige, his "mesetero" to lay down so much in alfalfa yearly; while he sets a good example by fencing in a large portion of his family possessions for the use of his hous hold and cattle. In this manner he would save the immense loss of lambs daily happening, improve this fertile wildness, keep a constant supply of cattle horses, and provide his table with milk, butter, cheese, fruit, vegetables, and many other luxuries at present too scarce in the camp, although so easy to create.

MILITARY UTOPIAS.

"Something must be done" is the phrase in everybody's mouth, but what that something is, seems more than the public or authorities have yet clearly defined. Mr Getting's spirited warning, under the above heading, was accused by Colonel Escola, who has a tender regard for his gentle countrymen, and no doubt believes that the Retiro women-murders were other pure fabrications or else the acts of drunken citizens.

Meanwhile life is positively unsafe in some localities, after dark, especially towards the Retiro barrack; and inextricated soldiers may be met at all hours. Tendy to stick one a little above ast notice. We believe they are not allowed to carry side-arms, but when one wants a gun it should not be a matter difficulty in procuring a knife. In Europe it would be a matter of surprise to meet soldiers in the street without arms, but here we are hardly wonder at nothing, however monstrous.

It is notorious that men who have committed deeds of blood, and imbrued their hands in the most horrible crime, are often drafted into regiments of the line in Buenos Ayres, as if those who compose society are fit to become its protectors. There are, of course, some good men, and a number of foreign recruits in our army, but it is a wonder to us incongruous that the discipline ought to be fully as strict as in England, and no soldiers, drunk or sober, be permitted to knock about at night, without being fully punished.

If Captain Stanolla, instead of writing that treatise for which President Mitre gave him $10,000, had occupied himself exclusively in clearing the streets of vagabond soldiers, and keeping the barracks in proper order, the public would owe him a great debt, and gladly and generously repay the same. If Colonel Escola, instead of obliging our indigenant countryman to mount a steamer without the public endorsed, could control the public garrison as well at night as on parade, we should vote him an elevation to the rank of Generalissimo of our Military War.

At present we doubt if General Gelly-Obes would have the courage to accompany a lady, after dusk, as far as the Plaza Lavalle. It is impossible to suppose all the officers are ignorant of this "reign of terror" in the North and of the city, where many would probably be murdered, notwithstanding the attractions of General San Martin, the fashionable promenade, musical band, fresh air, &c.

Really in spite of a soldier-crank, it is understood—in the evening, is quite alarming, and we know of few gentlemen who would care to call on Paraguay at night, though even these lady loves were waiting on them. If we are to be delivered up to martial law unless Generals Mitre and Gelly-Obes, the sooner we know it the better; but if it be not forbidden to walk out at night in the North and suburbs, we must do something to put a stop to these military outrages of which we spoke before, and which seem unhappily on the increase.

OUR PAPER BANK.

There is probably nothing like figures to convince people. If we said that there was a run on the bank, or that the breakers ahead in our money affairs would ultimately shipwreck the frazile bark called "Casa de Moneda," we might probably run the risk of being accused by the fiscal; we therefore say nothing, only ask our readers to throw their eyes over the following figures, and tell us how much longer the present state of things can last.

By the above figures it will be seen that while specie deposits in the Bank have during the month of June fallen o 24,800 pats.; the withdrawal of specie deposits has been 86,000 pat. more during the same period.

As to the paper deposits we will not trouble our readers, as it is a matter of perfect indifference to us all what amount of paper the bank may issue, or may not hold— gold is the true criterion to go by.

Notwithstanding this rather awkward specie statement, what will our readers say when they hear that the new discounts for the month in specie amounted to 14,000 more than the renewances for the month of May. We doubt if we were very far astray when we told the public that the Bank was squeezing gold on paper, that deposits are less, the specie payments are considerably more, for June than the previous month, and yet, notwithstanding all this the Bank Directors think proper to more than double their specie discounts. We hope that some one will have the courage to tell the Bank Directors what they are drifting to.

We refrain from making any observations whatever on the present state of the Bank, but we will upon all merchants to study the above figures and judge for themselves.

MONTEVIDEO.

Flores' campaign resembles the Polish rebellion in one particular, namely, its unsatisfactory procrastination; for while we hear of daily encounters, movements, and victories, the whole remains a riddle, apparently as distant from solution as ever. Despatches and official reports fill the papers, but not even President Berro can tell whether the invader be in Minas or Rio Negro, nor has Flores the least idea as to the forces and position of his foe at present, if there be really any. A profound apathy seems to have seized all parties in Montevideo, and we cannot help a thought upon the two, which excites no much interest in Buenos Ayres, and the ill-busters, we fancy, are quietly taking possession of Montevideo, waiting till the Government grows tired of such a state of things, and the grateful capital opens its gates to receive the conquerors.

The latest intelligence is, that Flores crossed the Rio Negro and set out on full gallop for the Brazilian frontier, where some say it is his intention to sell all his horses and abandon the campaign. No doubt he has been greatly disheartened by the desertion of his Brazilian allies, and the non-arrival of large re-inforcements from Buenos Ayres. The noisy palavrins of Orientalismo, the bitter jealousies, quarrels themselves with "spouting," on a Saturday afternoon, to sympathetic orange vendors and gaping housemaids. Their patriotism is extremely abstract and theoretical, which, unfortunately Flores cannot appreciate, being rather concrete and practical in his manoeuvring. Nevertheless we doubt very much that the Oriental desperado will give in without a bold stroke, and this will be our only hope, for we fear the one most suitable to his fortunes.

Generals Lamas, Medina, Olid, Moreno, Gomez, Coronel, 6 tutti quanti are very expert in avoiding a brush with the invaders, and will creep over they surprise a force of 10 or 14 men the panegyrics of Buzaingo are revived. Lamas took up prisoners rank and file of the enemy's scouts on the 20th ult. near Paso Pereyra (this is old news), their leader being a sergeant who killed a brother-sergeant of the Longuns batt. on a neighbouring estancia; the whole are in prison at Salto. Colonel Pirie marched on the 8th instant from Laguna Arapey with 600 men, towards the district of Tacuarembó, where he places himself under the orders of Lamas. He was to have done so on the 5th, but had to delay three days to assist the army of the Salto which has brought him a new supply of new uniforms &c.

We have been requested to contradict the statement of Dr. Siglo, who also misled ourself, relative to the robbery committed in the house of Senores Pendleton Hermanos. The person accused and "acquitted" was not in the but domestic servant formerly in their employ. The error was purely unintentional, and we feel confident can cause no uneasiness, being notorious in Montevideo. and now corrected through our columns.

A waggoner stabbed a Spaniard named Brandon, at Cordon, on Friday evening, just as the latter was mounting his horse. The assassin ran away, but was promptly seized by Ensign Carrin n of the Guard, who held him until the police arrived. The unhappy victim expired immediately: his murderer is in prison.

We read in the Siglo that 10,000 Chinese Indians have invaded the Argentine provinces near Salta.

Telegraph has the arrival of the Paisaki from Martin Garcia on Monday. The Admiral and Commander leaves Montevideo to-day for Rio Janeiro, with supplemental mails, so that our "despatch," which arrived too late for the Saintogo, has not lost the packet after all

LATEST ABOUT FLORES.

Captain Durante writes from Durazno, 6th instant, that he has seen two men, named Canto and Rodrigez, who had been taken off by Flores, and lately succeeded in escaping. They state that Flores crossed the Rio Negro at Paso Pereyra on the 27th ult. with all his forces, amounting to 700 men, and 2 guns. His troops are very discontented and badly armed, they are marching towards Tacuarembo, and say they will desert en masse on reaching the frontier. Some 200 horses were left behind at Rio Negro, being unfit for further campaigning. Groups of fifty men are deserting at Paso Pereyra Tapes: they crossed the Rio Negro on the 3rd instant, making for Cuchilla Peralta. Lamas is on their track.

July 11th. Government has just received despatches that Flores and his followers are in Cerros Blancos —Tacuarembo near the frontier of Brazil, where they intend disposing of their stolen (?) horses, as their funds are exhausted. After passing the Rio Negro Flores went along the Caraguata, to Cerros Blancos, where they are at present

—Reforma Pacifica.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

The critique on Norma in the "Nacion Argentina" is one of the lamest productions ever published in that paper. The writer evidently has some pique against Madame Miollo, or claims to be considered wise with indigenous decisions than with the immortal compositions of Bellini. It seems doubtful that musical critiques were considered in the performance only. Notwithstanding all that our friend asserts, the public are rather favourably impressed towards Madame Mollo, and we are happy to say there is every disposition to support the present company. To lampoon a lady who has only just landed amongst us is as villainous and mate as to attempt a gold medal subscription for the Lola Montez. Certainly we must be permitted to remark that the cronists of the "Nacion" seems more at home with the flying fingers of a Cora Diruf. We will not say that the Argentine Druid who penned the critique in question if he will honestly examine his own heart, his cronies and their fans, curls and dresses, centres which he seems evidently more au fait at, and leave all remarks on the Lyric Drama to more understanding some thing about music, and who during the performance concentrate their attention upon the stage not the cascade.

A friend from Montevideo informs us it is rather dangerous to talk politics in that city at present; detectives abound in the public promenades, and an unguarded expression respecting the Flores affair will be the means of posting to the indiscreet politician the great sum of nihil ad nihilum amongst the Orientals.

The Paisaki arrived safely in Montevideo on the 13th inst., so we may expect the great River Plate Nelson back amongst us soon. The captors we are informed, suffered even more than the unfortunate Englishmen, in Martin Garcia engagement, owing to the great want of foresight of our commissariat. The officers and men on board the Argentine fleet had to live on salt beef whilst those of the Paisaki were regaling on roast turkey, boiled fowl, ham and eggs, &c. One of the officers on board the Guardia Nacional writing to his friends says, "Another such victory, and we may all go to hospital."

The elections for municipales on Sunday were exciting at the Merce Over 300 free and enlightened citizens attended for the purpose of exercising the greatest of republican rights—suffrage. The roof, however, was not taken off the church nor the presence of the Minister of War necessary, as on the former occasion. Polls seemed quietly disposed and careless as to who were returned for Town Councillors

The "Asocion Argentina" published a supplement yesterday containing the whole official correspondence between Mr Elizalde and Sor. Lamas. Our readers, if they only take a glance at the sheet, will imagine what a tremendous affair the taking of the Paisaki has been in our Foreign Office. Dr. E. we think that if the President could spare him he ought to follow Sor. Rivera's example and take a trip up to Paraguay after such reports—warning. Why there must have been more foolsaap used in the Foreign Office than until the police arrived. The unhappy victim expired immediately: his murderer is in prison.

TO MINISTER ACOSTA.

The Irishmen in the Villa Mercedes are determined that it cannot be said that they refuse to assist the authorities in their efforts to arrest crime. We publish, with much pleasure, the following list of subscriptions for the arrest of the murderer of Mr Kirby, of Kerry, and Edward Devere, of Bristol

The criminal judge of the Villa Mercedes has sent a cheque to Santa Fe, and the Irishmen have made the following proposition, for the purpose of defraying the expense

However, we are authorised to state, that if the cheque catches the murderer with $1000 in his pocket to be collected to recompense him for his trouble

We, the undersigned neighbours of the Villa de Mercedes, have resolved to make up a subscription to defray the expenses of apprehending the murderer of our countryman, Edward Devere, of Bristol, lately killed in this parish; being informed that the murderer is in the province of Santa Fe, a cheque for $1000 is appointed him—with the sanction of the local authority—and bring him to this city

OPENING OF THE NORTHERN TRAMWAY.

On yesterday, at noon, a select party including the Municipality and several native and foreign gentlemen, numbering over sixty, attended the invitation of Mr. Zimmerman, manager of the Northern railway, to assist at the public inauguration of the tramway. The station, which is a neat and commodious structrue, was gaily decorated with flags, and three fine cars of Amsterdam build, brought under the attention of the invited guests. They are light and graceful in make, holding 24 passengers inside, and 20 outside; the cushions are of red velvet, a bell is provided for the purpose of intimating to the conductor when a passenger wishes to get out; there is a door at either end, and the horses may be driven from each car without moving the vehicle, in its return trip. The wheels are low and quite solid, the conveyance is the most perfect of the kind that its kind.

At 12 20 the guests being assembled, as we took our seats, and the word "all Ready" given, the starting motion, each of our cars being drawn by two splendid horses, especially broken in for the tramway. Passing down Paseo Julio, we soon left the crowd of spectators and admiration of the new idea. Policemen stood at intervals to prevent accidents, and the day being fine and the company pleasa nt we glided imperceptibly by the haunts of the dusky washerwomen, meeting a small bridge at the foot of Calle Paraguay, and arrived at the Retiro terminus. The distance is nine furlongs, and occupied a little more than nine minutes, being at the rate of nine miles per hour.

After some deliberation amongst the station, &c., the hospitable manager decided on a purchase of a first rate refesenter, supported by a formidable battery of Cliquot, Oporto, Burgundy, &c. So we soon opened a flanking fire which very quickly made a formidable impression on the "pieces de resistance," and succeeding some rich per cussions. When the host of the engagement was over, Commander Zimmerman officer in a jaunty and the assembled forces obeyed his indication, standing up, while retaining their arms in their hands.

In mid-Atlantic, we celebrate to day another triumph the tramway. This is the first accomplished in Buenos Ayres, but I hope it will not be the last. The advantages of such conveyance are well known to the people of the United States, and have been happily felt in some parts of South America. No wonder that our worthy Municipality saw this, and favoured the enterprise, I have to thank the Directors for their kind remembrance here to-day, and beg to propose the health of the Municipality of Buenos Ayres, and its dignified head.

The vice presidents of the Municipality replied in gracious and appropriate terms, assuring the public that whatever tends to the advancement and prosperity of the city will find a ready response on the part of the Corporation. The tramway is another powerful element of general convenience, and in the name of the Municipality, he could not forget to return thanks for the citizens to the Northern Railway Company, and drink to the health of the zealous manager, Mr Zimmerman.

Sr Llorente, secretary of the Municipality, then gave the toast, "To the spirited originators of the Northern railway, Mr Edward Augustus Hopkins," on whom he passed a very high and deserved eulogium.

Mr Hopkins responded: My humble efforts, gentlemen, have ever had one uniform object, the development of the country, and here to have been of a purely industrial character, railways, canals, docks, warehouses, &c. It affords me no little pleasure to see the realization of my favorite project, though under the auspices of others. In like manner I trust my various plans will ultimately be carried out, and I will ultimately be rich of my heart—"May peace and prosperity attend the Argentine Republic, and especially Buenos Ayres."

Mr Mc Lean, in a brief and eloquent remarks, proposed "Foreign enterprise in B. Ayres."

Mr M. G. Mulhall drank "Success to the New Station." The Adams Station is one of the most historic spots in this republic, for there the banner of civilization was first unfurled on the western shores of La Plata by the exploring Spaniards. To day it is further identified with progress by becoming the rendezvous of the great civilizer—railway-iron. Let us, however, hope that as the site of the Old Fort was formerly a warlike citadel, it may now become a focus of peace, wherein will converge those arteries of prosperity and national grea.neas.

Sor. Nunez [Nacional] congratulated the ex-ministro on the achievements and hoped the Northern Railway would ultimately stretch its arm to Rosario, there to unite with the great Central Argentine to Cordova, thus realising more fully the glorious work of fraternity between B. Ayres and the sister provinces.

The Hon. Wm. Kirk, American Minister, said: This method of tramway is not new to it is common to all the great cities of the American union. But I am exceedingly happy to meet here so many native and foreign gentlemen anxious to develop the industry of this fine country. The prospects of B. Ayres and the other Argentine provinces are very bright, and no arg. of peace has set in, which I fervently hope will yield great and beneficent results. Let me pay here a tribute to the Press of Buenos Ayres the great element of civilization and enlightenment, which ably fulfils its mission. He then gave "The Buenos Ayrean Press."

Mr M. G. Rulhell being called on to respond, returned thanks for self and fellows, in a few words.

Mr Rion (El Comercio) also thanked the honorable gentlemen, and gave, in return, "The United States."

Sr Nuñez followed in the same sense; after which the company returned to the carriages (3.30). Some of the Municipality rode on the roof, to have a more elevated view of things in general, and we all returned to Adauna, highly pleased with the day, and wishing success to all tramways.

CONGRESS—SENATORS

The Chamber was occupied yesterday with the fourth million of Parana Bonds, which it was proposed to consolidate in the Funded Debt, at the same feeling as the three millions, commonly called Mr Buschenta's. It was, however, thrown out, on the grounds of doubt, seeing that it must be classified before recognition. Senator Pinero then made a project for withdrawing from the Bank the interests lodged to satisfy for the fourth million in question, which was passed to committee. We understand Messrs Aldao and Cullen are large holders of these bonds, having more than half the amount

LOCAL EVENTS.

VESSELS OF WAR.—In Montevideo no less than 18 vessels of war are at present lying. 5 are English, 3 French, 5 Brazilian, 2 Spanish, 2 Italian, and 1 Portuguese.

SUPPLEMENTAL MAIL—On to-day a French man-of-war steamer leaves for Montevideo for Rio, taking the supplemental mail made up in the Steamship Office.

LOTTERY THIEF—A smart young fellow going to Montevideo the other day offered to take any commands for that city from his neighbours. One gave him some money to pay, which he paid certainly, but in the wrong quarter; another gave him a letter to a friend enclosing some lucky lottery tickets, the enamp also struck the tickets, putting others in their place, then drew the prizes, and tried to persuade the owner that he had mistaken the numbers.

THE DROUGHT—From the south we hear the most lamentable accounts of the camps. Only yesterday we heard of a poor sheep-farmer in Calcines whose flock of 1600 has been reduced to 501

THE ESPIGADOR will leave from Rosario on the 31st of July, after the arrival of the Paraná; returning on the 31st of July

THE CORRIENTES will leave on the 7th of August

ENGLISH MAILS—Contrary to expectations, the Mersey did not arrive yesterday. It is thought that the passpers on Saturday has obtained her

M'VIDEO—On the 9th inst. the Minister of War reviewed 3,000 of Florida. The men were new uniforms, and were well drilled. The greatest enthusiasm seemed to prevail among the troops, and the "vivas" for the Government and for the defenders of the law, re-echoed round the hills. The Minister drove in an open carriage, and expressed his great satisfaction at the condition of the troops

MUR ER—It is rumoured that a man was found murdered yesterday, in the locality called Potrero de Rowne. A pistol was found by his side

On 'Change.

Monday, July 14th.

Ounces opened at half-past eleven o'clock at 459 1/2 and shut up to 457, but they held at that figure only for a few moments; they tumbled down to 55 1/2. The cash sales, like yesterday, amounted only to 1437.

The time sales were as follows:—

For Wednesday,	100	456
do	200	455	1/2

On 'Change to-day things looked as dull as ever, owing to the non-arrival of the packet. Nothing was doing, as merchants prefer waiting to hear the news.

As regards produce, we have very little to remark, save that sheepskins are very first and in good demand; in fact, it is the only description of country produce which at present looked for.

The burning of two millions of paper money in the bank to morrow was decided freely. Most merchants are of opinion that the only hope of salvation for the paper dollar is in setting fire to it. Paper money is by no means abundant at Bank rates, and there is an evident disposition on the part of discounters to force bills into the Bank, as nothing of inferior class will be discounted even at ninety days less than 1 3/4 per cent. per month. No business will allow of such enormous rates of interest.

The opening to the public of the tramway must be of great benefit to the holders of the stock of the Northern railway. These are we believe principally shares held in this city and in fact we believe the stock has never yet been introduced on the Bolsa.

We call our mercantile readers attention to the Bank returns for the months of June published in another column.

The Money arrived this morning from Montevideo, bringing the satisfactory intelligence that Revolution had almost died out in the Banda Oriental. Fifres had gone to the Brazilian frontier, to sell his horses, according to the Reforma, and might shortly be expected back again in Buenos Ayres

It was very current on the Bolsa that the the Alabama has been captured. We will probably not know with any degree of certainty until the arrival of the English mail

We are with the greatest pleasure that we hear of the prospect of a direct steam communication with New York. We believe this would be one of the greatest boons to our commerce possible, and, we have no doubt, one of the most lucrative lines running from this port
